Overview of the Records

---

Repository:	New York State Archives
Summary:	This series consists of certified copies of laws passed by cities, counties, towns, and villages. Each document includes a certified copy of the law and a page giving the name of the municipality, title of law, and its number. The physical form of the laws varies greatly. The laws are arranged alphabetically by name of political subdivision, then numerically. The original laws are not indexed, but they were printed annually and those volumes are indexed.

Administrative History

An amendment to the Constitution of 1894 (Article XIII, Sections 2-3, as amended November 6, 1923) forbade the Legislature from passing local laws. Chapter 363 of the Laws of 1924 provided for passages of local laws and for recording them by the Secretary of State.
