Scope and Content Note

This series consists of historic preservation photographs assembled by the New York State Division of Archives and History, evidently for the purpose of using them in a publication. The photographs depict public buildings, cultural institutions, state parks, bridges, schools, businesses, urban areas, and geographic features like rivers, mountains, and waterfalls (including Niagara Falls). In addition, the images show workers engaged in such activities as fishing, farming, and industry.

Among the industries documented by the records are steel and iron, rubber, aircraft, camera and film, optics, glass, electrical installation, printing and publishing, cement, sauerkraut, paint, carpet, wallpaper and color, oil, art metal, and musical instruments. The photographs cover the following geographic regions of New York State, as defined by the Division of Archives and History: Long Island, New York City, Upstate New York, Albany, Adirondacks, Finger Lakes, Buffalo, and Niagara Falls.
