Scope and Content Note

This series consists of archival copies of the publicly accessible website of the Harriman Research and Technology Development Corporation. Researchers should note that the live version of this site no longer exists: shortly after May 2008, when the site was last archived, all of the information that it contained was incorporated into the Web site of the corporation's parent body, the Empire State Development Corporation. The site was then removed from the live Web.

B2094-07: This accretion consists of a copy of the Harriman Research and Technology Development Corporation Web site produced on December 26, 2006, shortly before Governor George E. Pataki (1995-2006) left office. It contains a list of corporation board members and press releases (1999-2006), an environmental impact statement (2002), redevelopment strategy report (2002), and an interim progress report (2004) relating to efforts to redevelop the W. Averill Harriman State Office Campus in Albany, N.Y. The bulk of the site consists of a master plan (2006) for transforming the campus into a research and technology park consisting of academic, research and development, residential, general office, and commercial buildings. Also included are photographs and information about the construction, square footage, and features of Harriman Office Campus buildings.

B2094-08: This accretion consists of a copy of the Harriman Research and Technology Development Corporation Web site produced on May 23, 2008, shortly after the resignation of Governor Eliot L. Spitzer (2007-2008). It contains a list of corporation board members and press releases (2007), an environmental impact statement (2002), redevelopment strategy report (2002), and an interim progress report (2004) relating to efforts to redevelop the W. Averill Harriman State Office Campus in Albany, N.Y. It also includes a master plan (2006) for transforming the campus into a research and technology park consisting of academic, research and development, residential, general office, and commercial buildings.

Also included are photographs and information about the construction, square footage, and features of Harriman Office Campus buildings and a request for statements of qualification (ca. 2007) from individuals or companies interested in acquiring and developing "mixed-used projects in conjunction with the development and operation of a university-related research and technology park at the site."

Researchers should note that the navigational links on the left side of each page do not always work properly; using the Web browser's back button to return to the copy's home page and then clicking on the desired link will usually resolve this problem. Owing to the structure of the live site and the limitations of Web archiving technology, the "RFP's-RFQ's" link does not work, and as a result the corporation's requests for proposals and requests for qualifications cannot be accessed.
