Administrative History

The New York State Temporary Commission of Investigation was created by Chapter 989 of the Laws of 1958. This chapter gave the Commission the duty and power to conduct investigations in connection with the execution and enforcement of state laws affecting organized crime and racketeering; the conduct of state and local public officers and employees; and any matter concerning the public peace, public safety, and public justice.

Chapter 56 of the Laws of 2007 set an expiration date of September 1, 2008 for the legislation that authorized the commission. Part G of Chapter 56 of the laws of 2008 extended the life of the commission until March 31, 2009 and stated that the Temporary State Commission of Investigation shall deliver its records to the New York State Archives to preserve the records pursuant to section 57.05 of the State Arts and Cultural Affairs Law.
